

The web pages and the text-based content of the YAM support site (www.yam.ch) are published under the GNU Free Documentation License and may be copied/modified under this particular license only. Every visitor is free to contribute/modify them but have to use only text material which is free from any other license or intellectual rights.

This site is maintained and hosted by Jens Langner (LightSpeed Communications GbR, Germany) free of charge as a contribution to the Amiga and YAM community. However, as these pages are part of a freely accessible wiki, the maintainer grants no responsibility in any way for the correctness and/or the legal dependencies of articles available here.

The yam.ch domain for these webpages is a property of and is provided free of charge by the original YAM author Marcel Beck.